RICHARD A. CARR, SR.

Dies at Haywood Hospital Sunday Morning at 4 o'clock After an Operation—One of Maysville's Most Prominent Men.

Mr. R. A. Carr, Sr., one of Maysville's most prominent business men, died at Haywood Hospital Sunday morning at 4 o'clock. Mr. Carr had undergone an operation at this institution last week, which was intended to save his life. Following the operation he suffered very much and gradually grew worse until the end yesterday morning.

Mr. Carr was born on June 2, 1852, in Lewis county near the Ruggles Camp grounds. While a boy he came to Maysville and has lived here since. In 1881 he married Miss Anella Calvert of the county. Mr. Carr founded the Magnolia Flour Mill in the year of 1886, which mill has been in almost constant operation since that time. The Magnolia flour became known throughout this section of the country.

Mr. Carr is survived by his wife, three children, Mrs. Howard Hart of Lexington, Ky., Mr. Andrew C. Carr and Mr. R. A. Carr, Jr., both of this city. He is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. John Fox of Big Stone Gap, Va., and Mrs. Mary Goddard of Fleming county.

Mr. Carr was one of the city's most successful business men and was greatly respected by his associates. He was a member of the local lodge of the Knights of Pythias of which he was a charter member and of the Ringgold Lodge of Odd Fellows.

RESIGNS PASTORATE

Rev. H. Kerr Taylor, Pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church, Will Go to China as a Missionary—Will Take Effect After Third Sunday in December.

Rev. H. Kerr Taylor resigned the pastorate of the Central Presbyterian Church yesterday morning to undertake foreign missionary work in China. The resignation will take effect after the third Sunday in December.

In giving up the work here, Mr. Taylor let it be clearly known that he was moved entirely by a conviction of duty calling him to the foreign field. He stated that it was a genuine and strong regret to him to leave a work that has been growing and that has every promise of fruitfulness.

Mr. Taylor came to the Central Church in May of this year, after graduating from Union Theological Seminary in Richmond, Va. He stated that he had for years felt a deep interest in the foreign work, though he had never offered himself for that work and had not planned to enter upon it. However, a gentleman in Norfolk, Va., offered to support him should he go and the Foreign Mission Board of the church, in Nashville, Tenn., offered him the work in China. The offer was entirely uncollected by Mr. Taylor, and came as a surprise to him. Final arrangements were made only last week.

In speaking of the work Mr. Taylor stated that the North Kiangsu Mission field to which he would go has a population of thirteen million; a handful of men is at work there.

Every effort will be made without delay to secure a successor to Mr. Taylor in the Central Church.

INTEREST GROWING

In the Big Tobacco and Corn Show—Many Business Men and Farmers Make an Expression of Their Feelings in the Matter.

The Tobacco and Corn Fair is now drawing a great deal of attention and everyone is looking forward to this event with more and more interest.

Three different business men have been heard to say in the last day or two that this Tobacco and Corn Show is one of the best things that Maysville Chamber of Commerce could do. The Mason County Health League and the Mason County Woman's Club are showing a decided interest in Maysville's Greatest Tobacco and Corn Fair to be.

Today is the day when all good citizens will have an opportunity to do their share in making this fair a great success. Show your loyalty by donating liberally to this great enterprise so that the fair will be one grand success.

Many of Mason county's farmers are already selecting their samples of tobacco, corn, and other products that they are going to enter with hopes of coping the prize for their various entries.

This week the various committees will be named and they will get busy doing the many different things that will come under their direction. The time is short but the men who are selected for the various jobs will do their work and everybody will be happy and Maysville will be proud of the first Tobacco and Corn Fair held in many years.

Don't do anything but boost and lend your every effort to help do the big thing.

Donate liberally to the Finance Committee this morning and do it quickly for these accounts will have lots of territory to cover.

FELLOWSHIP WEEK IN CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Beginning with tonight there will be a special series of Fellowship services in which different ministers from nearby places will speak. The willingness of these men to come and speak and thus aid in making the meetings a success is an evidence of their good fellowship, hence this is called Fellowship Week.

The successful minister from the Christian Church at Millersburg will speak tonight on "The Secret of a Great Life." This service will begin at 7:15 and will close so that those desiring to attend other gatherings may do so afterwards. Miss Elizabeth Williams, instructor in music in the local schools will sing special selections and will have charge of the congregational singing. Those who will join in forming a chorus are asked to be present tonight.

These services are not doctrinal but inspirational, therefore a special invitation is given the members of other churches to receive the benefit gained by their attendance.

BOARD OF HEALTH

Wins Case Against Joseph Myers of the Sixth Ward For Keeping Hogs Within the City Limits.

In the case of the City of Maysville against Joseph Myers in Police Court Saturday afternoon the defendant was fined $25 for permitting and maintaining a nuisance in the City of Maysville.

The case was over the matter of keeping hogs within the city limits, which practice the Board of Health is determined to break up. Mr. Myers was notified by the Board of Health on September 25 to abate the nuisance within five days. He saw one of the members of the board and asked that the time be extended a little as one of the hogs would have a litter of pigs within a few days. His request was granted but visiting the premises about a month later the Board found that he had not complied with the request and the number had increased considerably.

Mr. Myers stated that he had not kept his hogs confined all of the time as he allowed them to run in the ball park during the day. He claimed that he had always kept his pens in a very good condition. He said that since the first visit of the Board to his premises several litters of pigs had appeared.

The proposition then brought out the fact that there were several gaps in the fences of the ball park and that unless some one was present to watch the hogs would escape. The prosecution asked for a fine of not less than ten nor more than one hundred dollars per day since the expiration of the time to abate the nuisance.

The jury found Mr. Myers guilty and placed his fine at $25. He will probably appeal the case.

This is the third case the Board of Health has won against the hog pen owners since they began their campaign to rid the city of hog pens.

THE HOUSE OF A THOUSAND BROKEN PROMISES

There have been objections on the part of Democratic speakers and Democratic officials to criticism of the President. The Democratic publicity agents have busily engaged themselves in building up the fiction that the presidential office is sacrosanct. By their works shall ye know them, and while the record of the Democratic administration is considered it is not at all surprising that criticism is objected to. This is especially true when the broken pledges of the Democratic platform are considered.

The administration holds the record of abject surrenders, and for treating platform declarations as "scraps of paper." The one term plank in the platform is an example in point. The first great fundamental surrender of the administration is when it treated the declaration relative to the Panama Canal tolls as "a scrap of paper." This plank in the platform declared:

"We favor the exemption from toll of American ships engaged in coastwise trade passage through the Panama Canal."

The railroads objected, and foreign countries objected, and the President promptly surrendered. The platform declared for rigid observation of civil service, yet under no administration in latter years has the civil service law been treated with such scant consideration.

Probably the most fundamental and astounding abandonment of platform promises is that contained in the abandonment of American abroad. The platform declaration on this subject declared:

"The constitutional rights of American citizens should protect them on our borders, and go with them throughout the world, and every American citizen residing or having property in any foreign country is entitled to and must be given the full protection of the United States Government, both for himself and his property."

In the face of this declaration Americans have been abandoned in Mexico, and were insulted by being asked what they were doing there. A hundred lives have been sacrificed on the high seas where they have been killed to the accompaniment of the staccato notes of a Presidential typewriter. In the face of these declarations supreme irony is found in this one last plank contained in the house of a thousand broken promises erected at Baltimore. It says:

"Our platform is one of the principles which we believe to be essential to our national welfare. Our pledges are made to be kept while in office as well as relied upon during the campaign."

Molasses to catch flies.

BRITISH TRADE INCREASES

A 35 per cent increase in imports from the United Kingdom, the first eight months of the current calendar year, over the first eight months of 1915 shows the extent to which the Wilson-Underwood free trade law is offsetting any handicaps under which John Bull may be laboring on account of the war. Imports for the eight months ended August last, from the British Isles, totaled $219,000,000 compared with $162,000,000 during the 1915 period, and $176,000,000 for the first eight months of 1913, under the Republican protective tariff law. And England is an exporter chiefly of manufactured products.

The British Board of Trade figures show that 5,648,000 yards of cotton cloth were exported to the United States during September, 1916, compared with 3,766,000 yards for the same month in 1915, while 376,000 yards of woollens were sent to us compared with 189,000 yards during September of last year. For the first 9 months of the calendar year, ended September, the total exports of the United Kingdom to all the world were valued at $3,419,250,000, compared with $3,118,550,000 for the first 9 months of 1915, and $2,521,700,000 for the first 9 months of 1914. So, evidently, Great Britain is not such a commercial ruin as the President's free-trade son-in-law, Mr. McAdoo, would have the voters believe.

AN INCREASING DEFICIT

Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo evidently agrees with P. T. Barnum that the American people like to be humbugged. Twice he juggled the bookkeeping methods of the treasury department with the result that the apparent net balance in the treasury was enormously increased, although the actual money available was not changed a cent. He merely made the situation look better on paper. It will be interesting to see what means he will adopt to try to cover up the fact that in the first 100 days of this fiscal year the administration ran behind $64,000,000, or $640,000 per day, and in the first ten days of October the rate of accumulation of deficit reached $1,000,000 per day. Unless this slump in Government finances can be covered up, there will be an appalling slump and a still greater slump in the vote for Woodrow Wilson, for Wilson has been in full control of the money-spending offices of the government.

PEACE—AND SOME P'S

While President Wilson preaches of peace, ex-President Roosevelt dishes up a few P's for the delectation of the public.

Commenting on the activities of the German U-boats, which he declares, brings war so near us that "it stares at us from just beyond our three-mile limit," he says that this country faces a critical situation "without policy, plan, purpose or preparation."

These P's put pep into the peculiar situation which is so perturbed by the pussyfooting of our pacifist President.

After more than two years of war at a distance, with the sparks, however, falling everywhere, as Mr. Wilson once said, we find war at our doors by invitation of the administration and no preparations for meeting it.

More than $12,000,000 worth of mules have been shipped from this country to Europe since the commencement of the present year. And after November 7, the Democratic donkey will be ready to follow.

President Wilson says he is for "America First," but he has not advised the repeal of the tariff law which gave so much joy to the hearts of employees of factories in Europe and Asia.

WOODROW WILSON'S WOBBLY WAYS

WEAK AND WAHLING WILSON

POLICIES DRIVE 'S TO-

WARD WAR

Of all the silly campaign cries ever originated by a party leadership desperate for votes the claim that "Wilson kept us out of war" is the most puerile.

First, of all it is not true. We have been at war with Mexico with incident loss of life, and are in the shadow of war with that republic now, not, unfortunately, for a purpose which justifies war, but as the result of our meddling and muddling in Mexican affairs. We attacked and captured the chief seaport of Mexico, not to vindicate American rights or defend American lives, but over a matter of snubbing the American flag, ostensibly, but really to help Villa and Carranza overthrow Huerta. We are out of war now because we attacked a country unable to strike back. We kicked a cripple, and boast of Mr. Wilson's discretion in not hitting a man size nation. As an appeal to cowardice this "argument" ought to be effective. As an appeal to the moral sense of those who oppose war, it is essentially hypocritical.

So far as Europe is concerned, no one in this country has wanted war with any European country, and no European country has wanted war with us. War would not have been precipitated by the assertion of just American rights. We have never failed to assert these heretofore, and there never has been a time when we were in position to speak in behalf of these rights with greater anxiety on the part of those addressed to meet our wishes, and avoid trouble with us.

But who is in position to say that the Wilson policies will keep us out of war? There are many thoughtful observers who believe that not only will a weak and vacillating course by the American government fail to keep us out of war, but that it is actually driving us toward war. The declaration by this country that a foreigner has no right in Mexico which the Mexicans are bound to respect means either the surrender of the Monroe doctrine, or war with some European or Asiatic power, after the European war is over. The announced withdrawal of the protection of the American government from American citizens traveling or residing abroad, creates possibilities of trouble with foreign nations far beyond any hitherto thought of. By our policies we are inviting insult and affront, invasion of our rights and ultimate war.

There are two ways to get into war. One is by carrying a chip on the shoulder. The other is by carrying a "Klek Me" sign on your back. The bully and the mollycoddle are the two types that get into trouble everywhere. The Republican party believes America should be neither. It does not believe that trouble can be avoided by continually running away from it, and making a virtue of cowardice.

The Wilson policies keep us out of war? They will put us into war, beyond a shadow of a doubt, if they are long continued. We have already won the contempt of other nations, who, thinking us "too proud to fight" will therefore be the more ready to attack us. We have won a reputation for being ready to surrender any right in order to avoid trouble. This is a standing invitation to aggression upon us. We will be compelled to fight when such suggestion is undertaken, not because we want to, but because we cannot help it. It takes two to make a war or keep a peace. The assumption that one official in this country has done it, and he not the war making power, and with the certainty that if he undertook unjustified war he would be impeached, is the product of mindless thinking.

"PROSPERITY"

The Democratic party is basing its chief hope of victory in this campaign on the cry of "prosperity." "Wilson has given us good times," say the Democratic orators, "therefore, he should be continued in office."

The Democratic party took over control of the National Government on the 4th of March, 1913. In October of that year the new Democratic tariff law went into effect. Between October, 1913, and the beginning of August, 1914 (when war began in Europe), the Democratic party and the Democratic tariff law had the destinies of the country in their keeping. And during that time the Democratic party and the Democratic tariff law ran absolutely true to form. No Democratic spell-binder raised his voice in the first seven months of 1914 to talk about busy factories and prosperous working men!

Below is a sample of the sort of news that was appearing in the papers during the months when Mr. Wilson and his party were laying to produce prosperity without the assistance of munition contracts:

(From Times-Star January 2, 1914)

NOT CAUSED BY LABOR DISPUTES

101,000 Men Idle During 1913 in New York.

Albany, N. Y., January 2.—Lack of work, not labor disputes, was responsible for an increased percentage of idleness among union workers in New York State during 1913, according to a statement today by Labor Commissioner Lynch. His reports showed a greater percentage of idleness than for any year since 1886, with the exception of 1908. The number of workers on which last year's figures were based was 627,000. The number reported idle was 101,000, a percentage of 16.1.

"MOUNT LASSEN ONLY SLEEPING"

(Red Bluff Dispatch to the Sacramento Bee.)

"Mount Lassen is only sleeping." That is the belief of Verden Bashore, a scientist who comes from Los Angeles to study the old mountain, and to get data from which to prepare a series of lectures. Bashore has made several trips to the summit of the volcano, viewing all craters, and comes to the conclusion that the mountain is not dead, but will likely burst forth in a terrific eruption. This conclusion he says, is based on a close study.

On one of his trips he tells of loosening a boulder of immense size from the top of a jutting crag. On the following day he visited the same place and discovered that a small fissure or crater had formed. From it was issuing a volume of steam. For this and other reasons he believes the volcano is seething inside, and that the process of cooling off on top and stopping up the crater will only result in a more terrific explosion when the top is more solidly formed.

Editorial Comment

Large headlines of Newspapers October 21, say "Mexicans fire on American Troops," and still they say Wilson kept us out of war.

One more Republican vote in each of the 220 precincts in Kentucky last year would have made Ed Morrow's majority so big that the Democrats in Louisville could not have stolen it from him.

One vote might determine the result in the election of Congressman or even of president. Urge your Republican neighbor who stayed at home last year not to take a chance this year on being that one.

Good times or hard times for the next four years will depend upon whether Hughes or Wilson is elected president. Take no chance and urge your neighbors not to do so.

All the election forecasts insist that Wilson cannot win without New York, and none of them say he can carry it.

The reported effort of Senator Stone of Missouri to effect a deal with the German voters in favor of the President is one of the most potential developments of the campaign.

Referring to the Paducah lynchings the Courier-Journal affirms that a little firmness on the part of the officials would have prevented both the lynchings and the necessity of fighting the mob. It is strange that Courier-Journal cannot apply this same good sense and sound philosophy to Mr. Wilson's foreign policy.

SHIFTY WILSON ON COLONEL'S BODKIN

Elusive Balancer on String of Words Pinned Down by Proof That in Fifteen Public Utterances He Took Forty-One Different Positions on Preparedness.

EACH STAND CONTRADICTED FROM 1 TO 6 OF THE OTHERS

Democratic Candidate Said That Our Army Was Ample and That We Did Not Have Enough Troops to Patrol the Border; That We Were on the Verge of a Maelstrom and That There Was No Critical Situation; That the National Guard Would Not Do and Then That It Must Do.

In the fourteen months extending from December 8th, 1914, to February 10th, 1916, there were fifteen messages, letters and speeches of President Wilson which I have read. In these fifteen messages, letters and speeches, during those fourteen months, President Wilson took forty-one different positions about preparedness and the measures necessary to secure it; and each of these forty-one positions contradicted from one to six of the others. In many of his speeches the wondrous words of one portion of the speech took all the meaning out of the words used in another portion of that speech; and these latter words themselves had a wondrous significance as regards yet other words.

He argued for preparedness, and against preparedness. He stated that our army was ample; and that we did not have enough troops to patrol the Mexican border in time of peace. He said the world was on fire, and that sparks were liable to drop anywhere and cause us to burst into flame; and he also said that there was no immediate danger. He said that there was no sudden crisis; and then again that he did not know what a single day would bring forth. He said that we were on the verge of a maelstrom; and then that there was no special or critical situation. He said the danger was constant and immediate; and also that we were not threatened from any quarter. He said that there was no fear among us; and also that we were in daily danger of seeing the vital interest and honor of the country menaced and the flag of the United States stained with infamy. He said that we were in very critical danger of being involved in the great European struggle; and also that there was no need to discuss the question of defense, or to get nervous or excited about it. In one and the same speech, he said that a sufficient number of men would volunteer, and that if they did not he would be ashamed of America; and he also said that he did not know of any law which laid upon them the duty of coming into the army, if it should be necessary to call for volunteers. He said that we needed 500,000 volunteers, and that if there was any legitimate criticism of this demand it was because it was too small; and as soon as Congressman Day objected to the plan, he promptly abandoned it. He said that the National Guard was not the proper body upon which to rely; and then not only changed his own mind but forced his own Secretary of War out of his cabinet, because this Secretary possessed less flexible convictions and was unable instantly to reverse himself when going at full speed. From the Speech of Colonel Roosevelt at Battle Creek, Michigan, in Behalf of Mr. Hughes.

HELEN HUNT JACKSON'S MONT- WENT-REMARKABLE TRIBUTE TO AUTHOR OF "RAMONA"

On the very topmost Peak of Cheyenne Mountain, near Colorado Springs, Colorado, stands what is probably the greatest tribute ever paid to an author. When Helen Hunt Jackson died she requested to be buried on the top of this Mountain and her monument is a huge pyramid of small stones, each one gathered and placed in position by some loving reader of her immortal story of "Ramona." High up above the famous "Seven Falls," the last resting place of the woman who won the hearts of her people by writing a beautiful love story, is visited by thousands of tourists every summer, and each one has heard the story of the custom in the city below, and each one leaves not without adding his or her mite to the ever growing pillar of undying fame. There is no railway to take one up to the shrine. It is a long and arduous climb up thousands of rough, steep steps, so one must wonder at the power of this long dead woman, who touched the magic spring of a deathless affection in the souls of all all too often fickle public.

No attempt has ever been made to follow any exact form in placing the stones, nor was cement or mortar used in any way, so this is a memorial that will never be completed, but will continue to grow with the passing of each succeeding generation.

All held to the Author of "Ramona." "Ramona" will be shown at the Washington Theater November 1 and 2.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

DEVELOPMENTS

In these announcements from time to time we aim to give facts only—items that are matters of record or history. We leave it to our readers to draw their own conclusions.

We further aim to discuss securities that possess real tangible worth and that are undergoing certain developments that suggest the wisdom of careful investigation.

Ohio Cities Gas

This company now has 40 producing oil wells—20 more are being drilled. Two of these wells within the past ten days have made new records and are now the biggest producers in the Cabin Creek field. An oil refinery is to be erected, and a plant is now under construction for extracting gasoline from gas, both of which will add materially to its present earning capacity.

Ohio Cities Gas stock is now paying a dividend of 10% cash and 5% stock and at this writing is selling around 85 (par value 25), netting about 6%.

Columbia Gas & Electric

The most recent reports about this company indicate continued favorable progress. Its production of gasoline is steadily increasing. New oil wells are being driven in very promising territory. Present earnings are sufficient to make dividends possible, while its contract to supply gas to the Pittsburgh territory will about double the present production of 18,000 gallons of gasoline per day.

Owens Bottle Machine Co.

This company's net earnings are showing substantial increases. Old contracts at low prices of The American Bottle Co., (which company it acquired) have expired and new contracts at materially higher prices are now being executed.

BEAUTIFUL WEDDING

Was That of Miss Margaret Morton of Greenup, Ky., and Mr. William Hockaday of This City in the Former Place Last Thursday.

The following is an account of the Norton-Hockaday nuptials at Greenup Thursday taken from the Greenup Republican:

Wednesday evening the Presbyterian Church of Greenup was the scene of a very beautiful ceremony when Miss Margaret E. Morton and Mr. William J. Hockaday were united in marriage.

The decorations in the church were artistically carried out in pink and white flowers and green back ground. Promptly at 8:30 o'clock to the strains of Lohengrin, which was rendered by Miss Louise Pollock (organist) and Mr. Mathew (violinist), the bride party entered.

The bridesmaids, Misses Bessie Grayson of Greenup, Wada Scott of Ashland and Dorothy Hockaday of Maysville were becomingly gowned in pink tulle over silver cloth. They carried pink and white chrysanthemums. The maid-of-honor Miss Ethel Phyllis also wore pink over silver and carried pink rose buds. Elizabeth Renick the little flower girl, was dainty in white tulle with touches of pink. Little Sturgis Bates, the ring bearer, wore a white satin suit, the cape being lined with pink to carry out the color scheme.

The bride was lovely in her gown of white georgette crepe and satin. The veil was caught in with orange blossoms and hung over the long court train. She carried a shower of lilies of the valley and white rose buds. The ushers and best man and groom walked opposite the brides and bride. The ushers were Dudley Quaintance and Lyle Threlkeld of Maysville and Clifford Hertel of Greenup. The best man was Warden Allen of Charleston.

Rev. H. A. Love of the Presbyterian Church performed the ceremony, immediately after which a reception was held at the home of the bride. The receiving line was composed of the bride party who were effectively placed against a back ground of green and white. Delicious refreshments of ice cream and cakes were served, the guests at the bridal table receiving first attention. The punch bowl was gracefully presided over by Misses Garnet Sowards and Ethel Biggs.

The guests departed at a late hour, declaring it had been one of the most beautiful and enjoyable events that has occurred in Greenup for some time.

The presents and gifts were many and very beautiful.

VIRGINIA WILL BE DRY TONIGHT FOR ALL PRACTICAL PURPOSES

Richmond, Va., October 29—Virginia will enter the ranks of prohibition states at midnight, Tuesday, swelling the total to eighteen. For all practical purposes, however, the state will be dry before tomorrow night as liquor houses are rapidly disposing of their stock. No liquor can be shipped after Tuesday and carriers have served notice that none will be received for shipment after tomorrow. Therefore, little will remain for sale Tuesday. Churches and temperance bodies throughout the state are preparing to celebrate the wiping out of the liquor traffic in Virginia with "Watch" services.

Although the law makes the possession of liquor in certain quantities prima facie evidence of intent to violate the statute, large supplies are being laid in by individuals. This feature of the law, it is expected, will soon meet with a test in court.

DOCTOR PRESCRIBED VINOL

To Restore Strength To This Weak, Nervous Woman.

Many fair-minded doctors prescribe Vinol because they know of what it is made, viz.—beef and cod liver peptones, iron and manganese peptones, and glycerophosphates, with a mild tonic wine. They know these are the oldest and most famous tonics. Read the result in Mrs. Mason's case.

"I keep house for my little family of two, and got into a weak, nervous, run-down condition. I was tired and weak and did not know what ailed me. My doctor prescribed Vinol. I noticed an improvement before I had finished the first bottle, and I am now feeling fine and doing all my housework." Mrs. M. S. Mason, 203 Passale St., Trenton, N. J.

Every weak, nervous, run-down person, feeble old people and delicate child in Maysville should try Vinol on our offer to return their money if it fails to benefit. John C. Peacor Drug Co., Maysville. Also at the leading drug store in all Kentucky towns.
